Last year, in response to the national teacher shortage, we launched the LPS Teacher Pathway Initiative. The program helps LPS alumni to pursue careers in education. Thanks to you, we currently have 24 LPS alumni working at our schools, including:

3 teachers
1 counselor, 1 social worker, and 2 counseling interns
3 instructional assistants and 9 academic coaches, most on a path to become teachers
1 enrollment coordinator
4 administrative support staff

Our graduates not only already know the “LPS Way,” but they also represent the diversity and experience of our students and have a strong commitment to our communities. These exceptional alumni educators are improving our schools and becoming part of the next generation of leaders in urban education. In addition, LPS alumni are working at other public schools in their communities, such as Kennedy High in Richmond.

We want to send a special thanks to those of you who donated to the Initiative. Your support provides scholarships to help alumni through their teaching and counseling graduate programs. And you are helping to solve the teacher shortage.

To learn more about how you can support this work at Leadership Public Schools and to get involved in our initiative, please visit our website. Thank you for being part of our community!

Yours in partnership,

Dr. Louise Bay Waters
Superintendent & CEO

11th graders visit NASA, Univision

As part of our Career & Community Leadership Program, LPS Hayward 11th graders got explore career possibilities at local industry powerhouses like NASA, Univision, the Oakland A’s, Stanford Medicine, The Greenlining Institute, United Airlines, and the SLAC National Accelerator Lab.

Our gratitude goes out to these industry partners!